ROUTES – Riders may ride the 50-mile paved route throughout the day on Saturday, May 20. There will also be a 10-mile race option open to all racers. The route will be determined but will be an all-pavement route that includes the Navajo Mountain High School, Naatsisaan Chapter House, the Eihinah Days rodeo grounds, the canyons toward Inscription House to the top of “double-decker” and then back.

We will track your time and have light support (nutrition, medical and mechanical) at the start/finish, with aid stations at the chapter house turn-off, rodeo grounds and at the turn-around point. We will have fluids, Honey Stinger products, salty snacks and first aid supplies at the aid stations.

The 10-mile race will be all-pavement route and the final race course will be set prior to race week.

CAMPING: Camping will be available.

NOTE: There are no stores and no available gas for sale in Navajo Mountain. We recommend that you buy any final supplies, snacks and gas from our friends at Inscription House (Tsaah biikin Market). The Goodman family that runs the store are great supporters of the Dine' Project. Let's give them a little business in appreciation.

AWARDS – All riders will receive a finisher's medal. There will be plaque awards for overall male/female champion and runner-up, youth winner (18 and under), master's winner (40+), senior winner (50+).

The t-shirt will feature the likeness of Dine' leader Hashkeniinii (shown above right), a legend in this area from the Long Walk era.
